Portfolio description

This portfolio looks to achieve capital growth in excess of inflation, whilst supporting inclusive economic development by investing in more environmentally and socially sustainable business practices. The portfolio will look to do this by investing in a diversified range of funds, which allocate capital to sustainable themes, such as healthcare and social housing, financial inclusion and education, the circular economy and renewable energy. The portfolio is diversified across a range of asset classes with a medium allocation to funds investing in equities (expected to be no greater than 40%) and other risk assets. Target volatility: 2.8 - 5%.

United Nations Sustainable Development Goals

Portfolio pillar mapping

As part of the LGT Wealth Management Sustainable Model Portfolio Service, we have developed four sustainable investment pillars. These pillars encompass investment themes and the related the United Nation's Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDG), which they aim to support. Two of the pillars target social themes and two target environmental themes. This allows the translation of a framework based on a global, wide-reaching social and environmental change into an investable universe of ideas.

Our sustainable investment pillars

In order to better understand the thematic exposure of the portfolios, we have aligned the underlying funds to our sustainable pillars.

Monthly investment update

Global equities made small gains in November after an early spike in volatility driven by shifting expectations for US rate cuts and fresh scrutiny of stretched technology valuations. Jerome Powell pushed back against assumptions of a December cut, prompting sharp swings, though markets steadied later. The S&P 500 ended flat, the Nasdaq fell 1.4% and the Magnificent 7 dipped 1.1%. In the UK, Rachel Reeves’s budget confirmed £26 billion of tax rises, yet markets welcomed stronger-than-expected fiscal headroom. The Bank of England kept rates at 4% while inflation trends pointed to a possible December cut.

November underscored how sensitive markets remain to shifting monetary policy expectations, technology-sector valuations and evolving geopolitical developments. While equity markets ultimately ended the month broadly unchanged, the volatility seen throughout highlights an environment still driven by rapid sentiment swings rather than clear economic direction. Risks surrounding policy, profitability and growth remain, and investors should expect pockets of volatility going forward despite relatively robust global growth.
